The total duration of post-doc contracts according to article 22 of the Law 240/2010 and contracts according to article 24 of the Law 240/2010, also with different Universities, cannot, in any case exceed twelve years, even if they are not continuous. Periods on maternity leave or for health reasons are not counted.

Art.3

Applications

Applications, addressed to the University Rector according to the on-line application form, must be sent electronically via the site “www.unibocconi.eu/jobmarket”, by 24.00 of April 19th, 2021 (Italian time).

The following documents must be attached to the electronic application:

- a. a scientific curriculum (including a list of titles and publications);
- b. titles, publications and documents which the candidates intend to submit for this evaluation within the limits allowed by the system;
- c. from 2 to 4 highly qualified academic referees providing a reference letter.

For any problems with the online application system, candidates can contact faculty@unibocconi.it.

If the candidate has any other roles, he must attach a declaration stating the type of position and role currently being carried out.

Any possible externally paid roles may only be carried out after authorization by the Academic Bodies of Università Bocconi, according to the current regulations of the University.

Art.4

Selection Procedure

In order to carry out the selection, the Department uses the Junior Hiring Committee (CJH), nominated by the Department, designated by the respective regulations of the Department, chaired by a Full Professor as Head of the Junior Job Market, having heard the Vice-Rector for Human Resources. The Junior Hiring Committee will be appointed after the expiry of the deadlines for submitting the applications referred to in the previous article. The composition of the Junior Hiring Committee will be such as to ensure the presence of a Bocconi tenured professor affiliated to the same Competition Sector or one close to the one advertised in the current Call for Position.

The Junior Hiring Committee (JHC) draws up a short list of candidates to be interviewed, between 10 and 20 percent of the applications, with a minimum of 6 candidates irrespective of the number of applications, if the applications are deemed eligible according to the Competition Sector advertised, as reported by the attachment B of the MD 855/2015. The Committee may request recommendation letters from the referees in the list referred to in the previous article.

Selected candidates will be admitted to the public discussion, in person or via conference call, of the titles and the scientific production in the presence of the Junior Hiring Committee (JHC). During the discussion, the candidate will be asked to present a scientific work at his/her own choice, as a seminar, in order to evaluate the candidate's didactic and scientific competence and the interest in covering the contractual position proposed by the University.

At the end of the selection process the Junior Hiring Committee (JHC), with agreement from the Vice Rector for Human Resources, will write an overall evaluation for each candidate, forming a table of eligible candidates which will be published on the University website.

For eligible candidates, the University, following the proposal of the Department, has the possibility to make an offer which must explain: the contract type a) or b), teaching load required, requested scientific commitments in terms of minimum publications requested, proposed salary, which cannot be less than the minimum amount as laid down by article 24 of the Law 240/2010. It must also indicate the deadline by which the candidate must communicate their acceptance of the offer.

If the candidate accepts the offer, the University will draw up a fixed term, private law contract.

Article 5 Rights and Duties of the Assistant Professor

The Assistant Professor contract lasts for three years and can be extended for 2 years (type "a") and possibly renewed for an additional 3 years (type "b"), for a total duration not more than 8 years. The extension and renewal, as an expression of the will of the parties, will be provided only with a written contract and conditional to a successful evaluation of the activity carried out, as discussed below.

The Assistant Professor will have the following commitments:

- Teaching activity, in their given scientific sector, also assuming the responsibility for coordination course of multi-class courses, as agreed annually by the Academic Council, for a number of classroom hours equal to 105 hours per year, preparation of teaching material and assistance to students and checking of their knowledge.
- Research activity, also carrying out the scientific coordination, within research projects developed by the Department of referral, as well as within the structure of research centers within the University, with the aim of producing scientific publications in prestigious sites, or considered to be such by the University, which would allow to achieve the number and the quality for the promotion to Associate Professor within an extended employment relationship up to a maximum of 8 years (3+2+3).

Assistant Professor contract, type a), evaluation for contract extension and/or contract renewal. At the start of the third year of the contract (type a), the Assistant Professor will be evaluated according to the following parameters.

For teaching activity, the Department will consider the obligatory teaching activity and individual performance according to the procedures defined by the University.

For Research Activity, the Department will evaluate the scientific articles produced, taking into account whether these articles have been submitted to prestigious journals, whether they have had a "Revise and resubmit" response and whether they have been published. The result of the evaluation will be sent to the Assistant Professor as well as the Vice Rector for Human Resources.

The Department, based on these evaluations, can propose an extension to the contract for a further two years or directly propose that the University offers a type (b) contract.

In the case of the second proposal (type b contract), the subsequent evaluation will be carried out by an Internal Evaluation Committee (CAP - Committee for Appointments and Promotions) to the Human Resources Committee, Chaired by the Vice Rector for Human Resources. This committee doesn't necessarily include external members. This same procedure starts at the beginning of the final year of contract extension if the Department proposes to continue the relationship with a type (b) contract.

Assistant Professor contract, type b), evaluation to start the procedure for the conferral of tenure. At the start of the final year of the contract (type b), the Assistant Professor will be evaluated according to the following parameters.

For the teaching activity carried out: fulfilling teaching obligations and evaluation of the individual teaching performance according to the procedures defined by the University.

For the research activity: evaluation of the research projects and checking of the number of scientific publications produced.

In particular in order to be given tenure as Associate Professor, the candidate must have an adequate number of scientific publications in prestigious journals or judged equivalent by the University and positive evaluations on teaching activity and student services given during the duration of the contract.

The University will also evaluate the Assistant Professor's position in the scientific community using internal and external referees' letters of reference partly independently and partly indicated by the Department of referral.

Article 6 Definition of the Relationship

The following elements will be subject to negotiation between the university administration and the winning candidate, according to the preceding articles:

- a) the economic conditions, within the limits imposed by the University Board; in any case the economic conditions cannot be less than the Ministerial tables dictated for Confirmed University Researchers with a National Role according to article 24 of the Law 240/2010;
- b) the teaching and research obligations according to the model outlined in article 5 of this announcement;
- c) an additional sum for relocation, for candidates coming from EU or non EU countries, within the parameters fixed by the University Board.

The Assistant Professor will be subscribed to the obligatory national insurance fund INPS (CPDEL).

The Assistant Professor will also receive the company benefit of a health insurance policy, defined by the Administration.

The gross salary will be paid, net of the legal deductions based on the applicable Italian laws, in 12 monthly post-dated payments, plus an extra 13th payment, in addition to the share of employee severance pay, which will be paid at the end of the contract.

Art. 7
Treatment of Personal Data

In accordance with the provisions of General Data Protection Regulation n. 679/2016, all personal data supplied by candidates to the Faculty and Research Division, both in electronic and paper format, is exclusively for evaluation purposes and to publicize the acts related to the current evaluation procedure and the conferral of an Assistant Professor position as detailed in this announcement.
